PERSONAL PROFILE

I am a recently graduated Front End Engineering student of The Iron Yard - Greenville. I am seeking a junior level position that will let me grow, learn, and showcase my skills and talents. I am an extremely hardworking and honest individual. I love to use my problem solving and creative capabilities to their fullest potential and enjoy rising up to a challenge. I pride myself on my composure under pressure and working through a plan to completion. I love working with a team and learning new methods or ideas, but I am also equally capable of working independently to reach set goals.

INTERESTS

When not working, I relax by spending time with my family and friends. I love exploring the outdoors with a nice hike, a fishing trip, mountain biking, or a great camping trip. I love watching and playing sports and helping my daughters play sports. Art is a true passion and I love creating it in many different mediums, from painting & sketching, to computer graphics & coding software. I am an avid reader and passionate about learning new things, as well as challenging myself on a daily basis.
